By Marie Mambinga

Hi, I am Tamisha Marie Louise Kounda Mambinga

I am a highly qualified candidate with a passion for graphic design, interior design, and furniture design. I am a fast learner, collaborative team player, and have successfully operated as a freelance designer since 2022. I possess diverse skills in industry-leading tools like Photoshop, Adobe Illustrator, Revit, and PowerPoint. Additionally, I am fluent in both English and French, and I received the best student prize in my department among Gabonese students studying in Pretoria.

Working art gallery

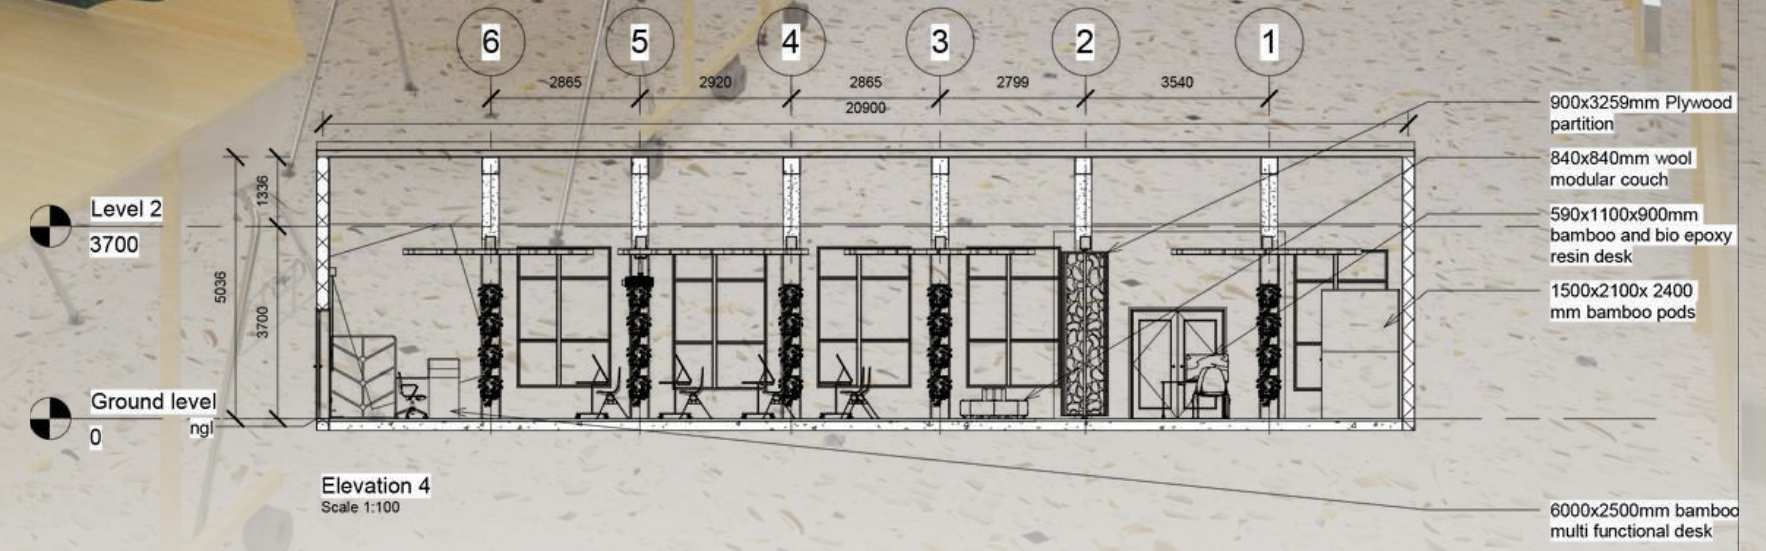

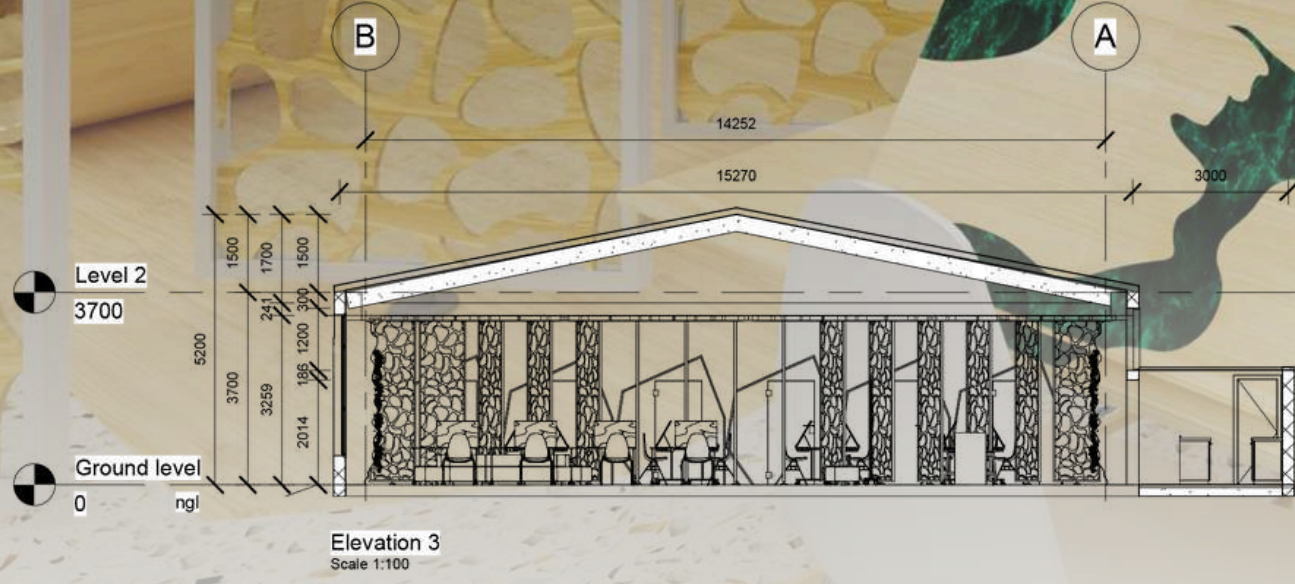

University Project

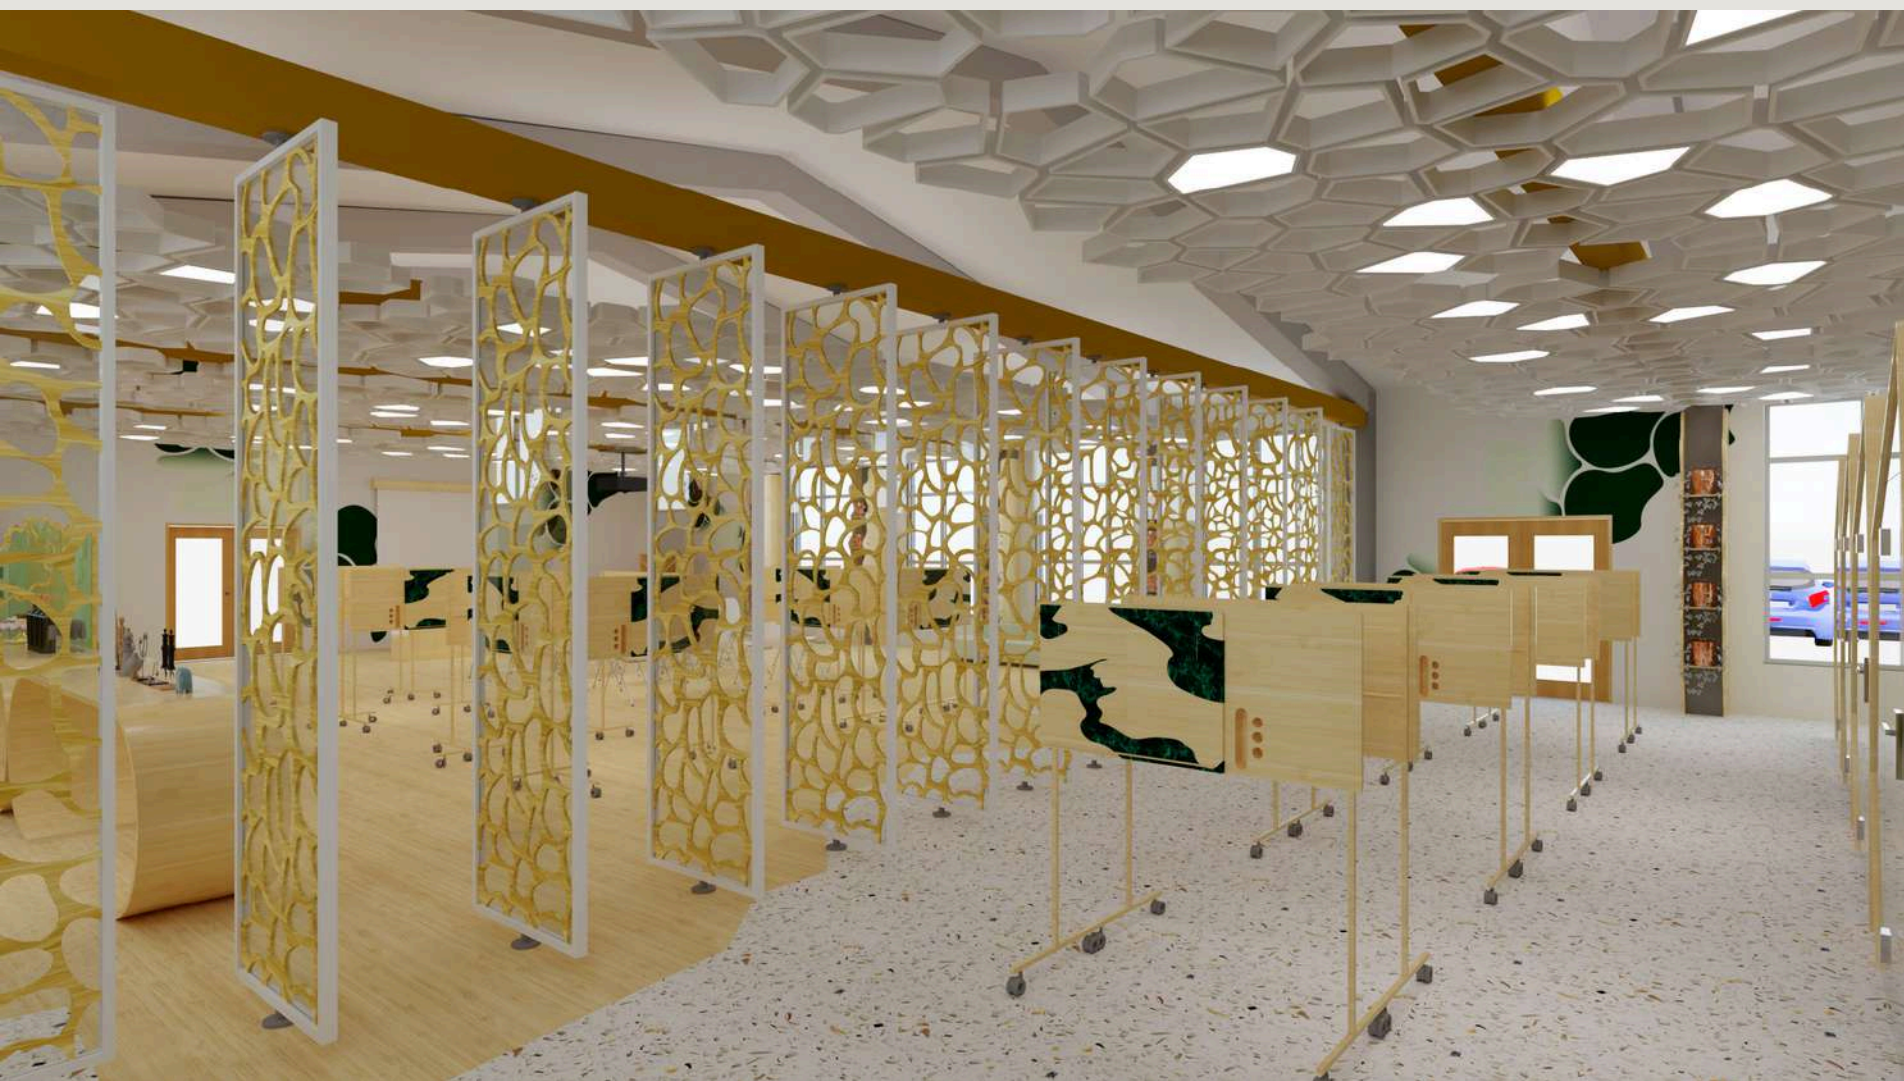

Working art gallery

This project is based on an Eco and sustainable approach to redesigning the working art gallery of the faculty of art and design of Tshwane University of Technology (TUT). This project explores different eco and sustainable systems which aim to use the site's natural features to solve the design problems observed in the interior of the art gallery. It enlightens eco-friendly alternatives to well-known chemical materials and materials that respect the natural process of nature regeneration, which creates a healthy interior that respects nature and has a lower footprint.

Modern contemporary Livingroom

Freelance Project

Modern contemporary Livingroom

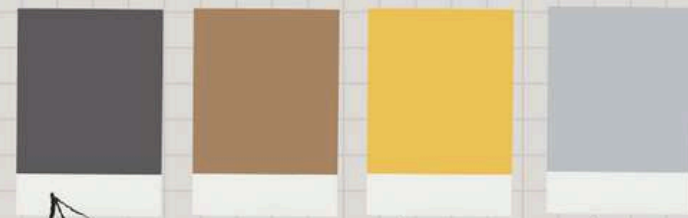

As a freelance interior designer, I was engaged by a client to remodel their living room, with the goal of transforming the space into a modern and contemporary oasis that would also be family-friendly and rental-appropriate. The client had specific objectives, including redesigning the living room with a modern and contemporary aesthetic, creating a cozy and inviting atmosphere suitable for family use, and ensuring the design was toddler-proof and rental-friendly, as the clients were residing in a rented property.

Modern contemporary livingroom

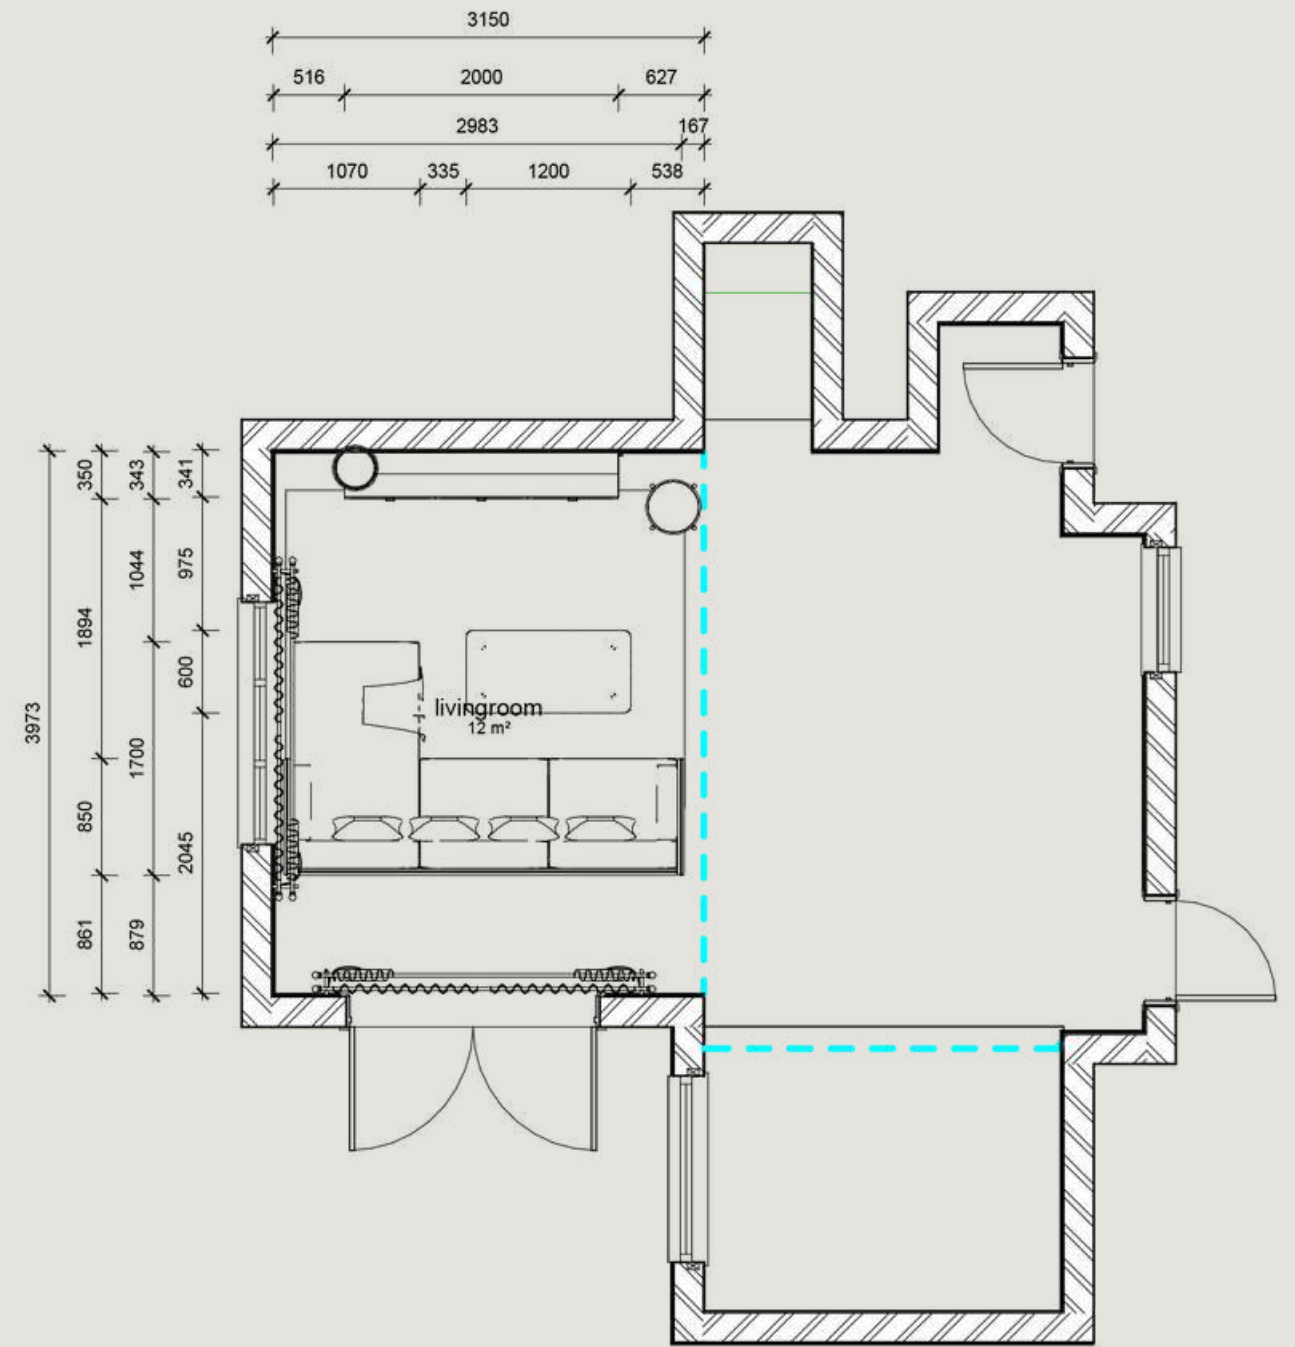

- Introducing 3d peel and stick wallpaper
- Bring the coziness with rugs and throw blankets and plants
- Add a touch of colour with pillows

freelance Projects

Espace Nzangile

As a freelance graphic designer, I was commissioned by a client to develop a brand identity for their newly established business. The objective was to create a brand that conveys trust, elegance, and cultural significance. I implemented this vision through the design of various apparel items as requested by the client.

Kajudi Hair

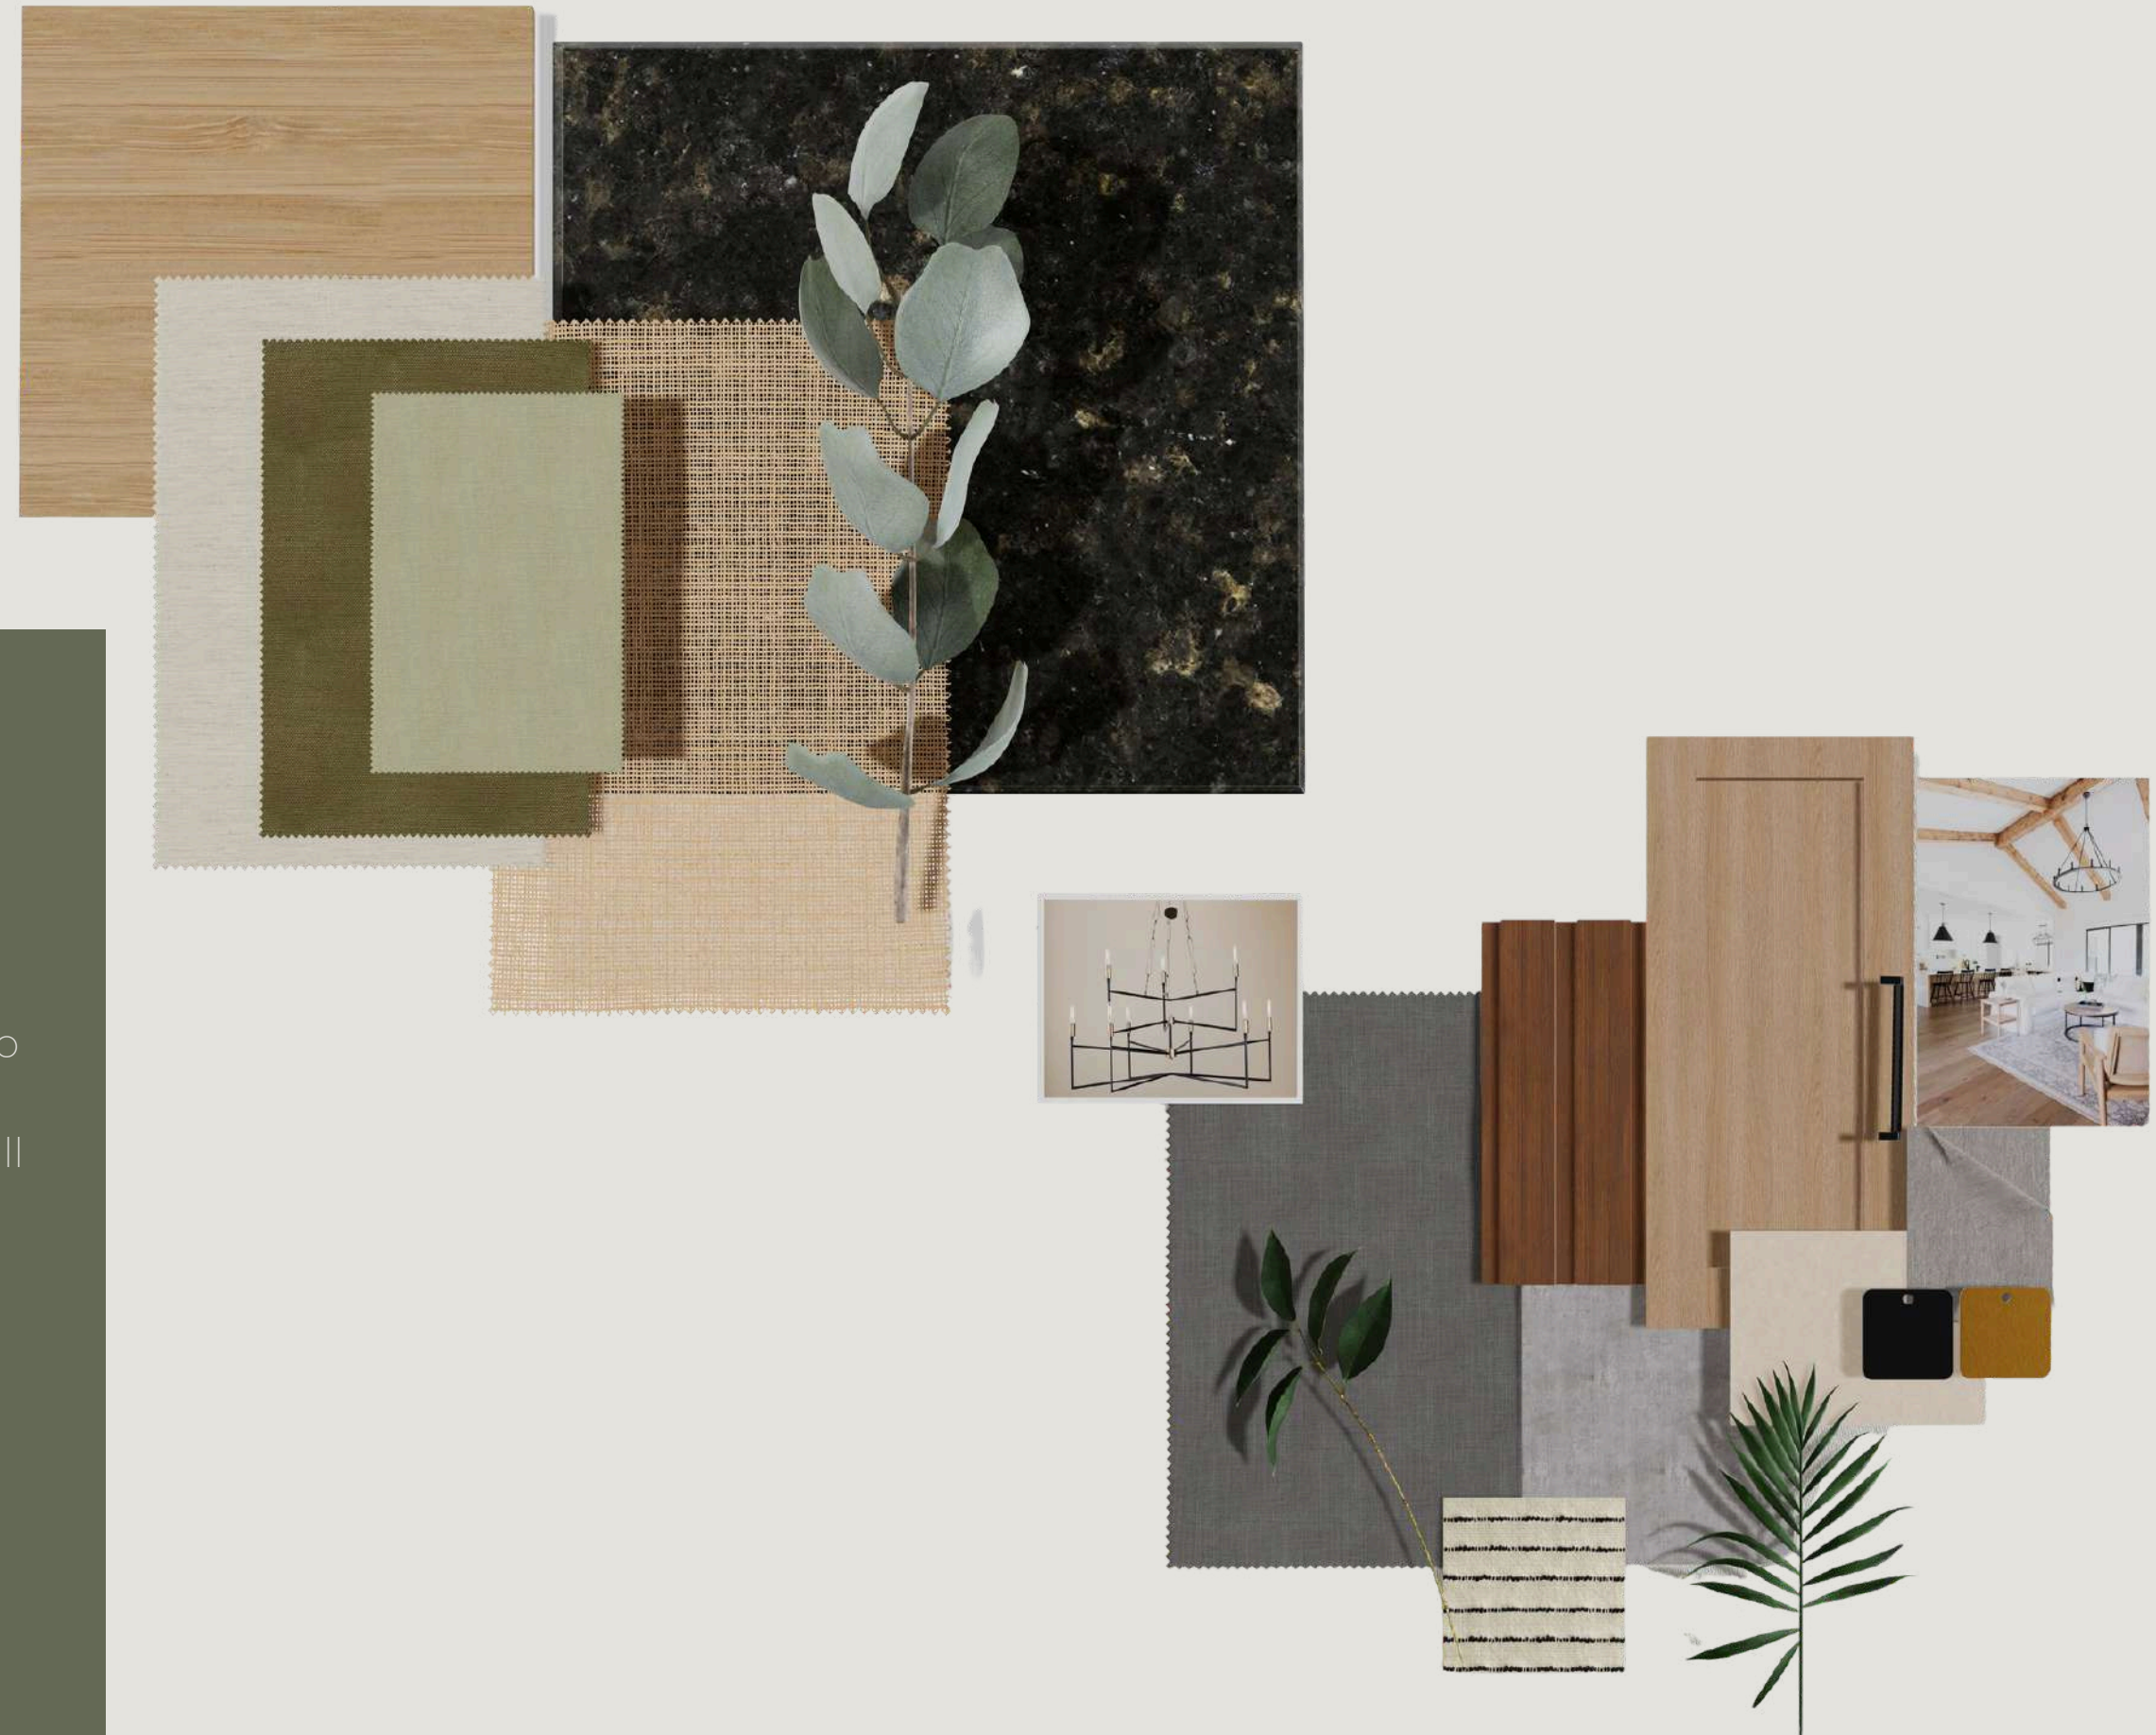

This project involves the expansion of an existing business. The client requested the development of a brand identity that appeals to women of all ages. A primary requirement was to retain the color scheme associated with their core business. In response to these requests, I have crafted a brand that not only appeals to the target demographic but also maintains a connection to the original enterprise, incorporating an elegant touch.
